In presenting this list, we are offering you the finest assortment of quality plant material we have ever produced.

Our nursery is clean. We have no old, ragged, or diseased plants around. Our fields are entirely stocked with young, vigorous specimens. Visitors frequently comment on our lavish cover crop program. We have ample land for the most advanced contour planting and the best cover crop schedule. We maintain a constant check on fertility through scientific soil analysis. The resulting rich soil and our production know-how are responsible for our healthy, skillfully grown plants.

It is to your advantage to purchase material where the prices are reasonable, the quality is superb, and the service is prompt.

HOW TO HANDLE YOUR PLANT MATERIAL

Delivery

We supply only stock that has been freshly dug to fill your order. Orders delivered by Ingleside trucks are promptly loaded and are protected in transit by carefully secured tarpaulins.

Call for your own loads as promptly as possible after notification, be sure your truck is equipped with plenty of rope and canvas to cover the whole load. Unprotected nursery stock quickly windburns and dries out in transit.

Bareroot Stock

Unload promptly after receipt of material. Untie and water the bundles. Heel at once in peat, sawdust, or moist soil preferably under a lath shade protection. Bare-root stock should be potted up or planted before it starts into active growth.

B&B Stock

Again unload promptly upon receipt of the material. Remove the cords securing the tops of the plants to prevent injury to the foliage. Heel the balls in damp peat or sawdust preferably under lath shade protection and water thoroughly. In the salesyard B&B material is most advantageously displayed in raised peat or sawdust beds. To save time and confusion during rush periods salesyard stock should be individually labeled as to variety and price. Feed the stock every two to three weeks with soluble fertilizer at  $\frac{1}{2}$  the manufacturers recommended dilution.
